Our Brand Story

Merchant Brothers Pte Ltd was established in Singapore in April 2020 by José Rodrigues and Ray Poh as a trading company that specialises in fine food products from Portugal and other parts of Europe. The company was set up in partnership with the Rodrigues family that operates Sabores Alentejanos, a Macau distributor that sources, markets and distributes European foodstuff throughout Macau, Hong Kong and China.

José had long shared his love for the Portuguese culture and tradition and often lamented the lack of Portuguese food products in the Asia region. His knowledge and passion for nature and agriculture led to his frequent trips back to his family's hometown in the rural Alentejo region of Portugal. In 2015, he set up Casa do Porco Preto, a traditional Portuguese cuisine restaurant in the heritage area of Barra in Macau.

With the understanding that good food stems from utilising quality ingredients, José created one of the top Portuguese restaurants in Macau with the products he individually sourced and curated.

With this knowledge of fine food products, Merchant Brothers aims to bring the Singapore palate on a gastronomical voyage to discover the taste of Portugal and more.

Our Partners

Merchant Brothers works with a range of partners to bring you the best of Portugal.

Our Products

Whilst Portuguese cuisine might be a mystery to food enthusiasts outside of its borders, Portugal is actually known for their traditional agriculture and fresh produce. Working with family-run farms and businesses, we source directly for the most authentic produce ranging from seafood and spices, pastries and dairy products, to bring you the unique, undiscovered taste of Portugal.

Ready-to-cook Desalted Codfish

About Riberalves

It all began in the 1960s with a son and a father selling codfish door-to-door on the streets of downtown Lisbon. Back in those days, João Alves would leave the grocery store in São Pedro da Cadeira, Torres Vedras, along with his father to help him deliver bales.

The codfish industry made its mark on him and, years later, around 1985, after he had established himself, João Alves found inspiration on the name of his two sons – Ricardo and Bernardo Alves – to build a company that would become a reference within the codfish industry, Riberalves.

Each year Riberalves produces 30,000 tons of codfish, the equivalent to 8-10% of all codfish that are caught in the world. Today this is the single largest industrial facility in the world exclusively devoted to codfish processing. In this unit Riberalves implements its own technology, conceived to assure the production of the Ready-to-Cook Deep-Frozen Desalted Codfish. In this facility, Riberalves implements its own technology to assure the production of the Ready-to-Cook Deep-Frozen Desalted Codfish.

Frozen

Process

Riberalves launched its Ready-to-Cook Codfish in the year 2000. The company developed its own technology to achieve maximum quality and performance in each production stage. Besides that, Riberalves makes sure it controls the raw material from its very origin, ensuring that only the best codfish is used in the process.

Origin

Only the finest species of codfish, the Gadus Morhua – from the Atlantic Northeast – is used to produce Riberalves' Ready-to-Cook Codfish.

Capture

Riberalves follows best practices for fishing – such as fishing by line – and thus assuring that cod is treated in a delicate manner and avoiding any impact that could lead to loss of protein quality. Furthermore, Riberalves codfish is immediately bled after being caught in order to guarantee that the flesh retains its finest qualities.

Salting

After capturing the fish and complying with the traditional method developed by the Portuguese people throughout centuries, the codfish is immediately nestled in salt. This is the first step in the preservation process, and means that the Traditional Portuguese Cure is underway. Under no circumstance will cod be frozen at high seas or submitted to double freezing. Also, no phosphates will be added to the codfish.

Traditional Portuguese Cure

As in the case with smoked ham, the duration of the salted cure is one of the most defining factors when it comes to codfish quality. In compliance with the Traditional Portuguese Cure, the Ready-to-Cook Riberalves codfish may rest from five months up to one year in salt.

Drying

After the Traditional Portuguese Cure is complete, codfish undergoes a drying process. Taking place in controlled atmosphere chambers, this process allows dehydrating and removing excessive protein humidity. Its duration varies according to the thickness and size of the fish.

Cutting

Once dried, codfish is cut in a variety of pieces according to consumer needs. The convenience of the Riberalves Ready-to-Cook cod begins to show at this stage: consumers will be allowed to choose from a wide variety of cuts according to their preferences.

Soaking

Once cut, codfish is soaked in controlled temperature water during a precise amount of time. How long this step lasts is defined by the size and thickness of the piece. This way the saltiness of the piece is perfect and consistent, hence avoiding mistakes and hindrances commonly associated with home desalting.

Deep-freezing

Developed and perfected by Riberalves, this fast -40°C deep-freezing process lasts 4 hours and preserves the organoleptic properties of the codfish. Contrary to home freezing – a process that can take up to a day and reduces codfish quality – industrial deep-freezing keeps proteins intact.

Convenience

Once packaged, the Ready-to-Cook Riberalves Codfish is ready to land on the market. Daily routines in modern society allow little room for a time-consuming process such as soaking cod, therefore preparation and cooking routines need to be swift. In that sense, the Ready-to-Cook Riberalves Codfish presents itself as an ideal solution. A final argument must also be made: an argument for the premium quality of the best Traditional Portuguese Cure codfish.

MSC Certification

In June 2010, Riberalves became a Marine Stewardship Council Certified company. Recognized for its compliance with the rules of sustainability and good management in its fishing activities.

The Art of cooking chocolate

Pantagrue

About Pantagrue

Pantagrue is the most popular Portuguese brand of cooking chocolate and market leader in this segment.

Imperial launched the brand in 1982, when the company was celebrating its 50th anniversary. It was born from the need to launch a high quality, intensely cocoa flavoured cooking chocolate, which is why the brand is closely associated with the world of cooking, the great 16th century French chef and also the respected Pantagrue cookbook.

This brand is associated with traditions and thanks to consumers' trust always achieved excellent results in making delicious chocolate desserts. Pantagrue is born from the purest sources of cocoa from Ghana and the Ivory Coast.

350 hectares. 350 years of history.

About Herdade das Servas

Family Winegrowing legacy since 1667
In Alentejo, Herdade das Servas have been proudly producing wine for three and a half centuries. Its mission is to create wines with quality, character and longevity that surprises even the most demanding palates. The brothers believe in more than just prizes and reviews, and that the greatest form of recognition is the positive word-of-mouth shared by satisfied customers.

Our Terrior

Planted across 350 hectares of vineyards, each variety has its own foliage and unique aromatic characteristics. Herdade das

Servas believes that good wine begins in the vineyard, where they decide what flavours they want to achieve with each harvest, by tailoring the balance between soil and vine to produce great grapes.

Sustainability

In a commitment to continuous improvement and adoption of sustainable production practices - from vineyard to winery - Herdade das Servas is part of a pioneering programme in Portugal called the Alentejo Wines Sustainability Programme (PSVA) promoted by the Alentejan Region Agriculture Commission (CVRA).

Wines of Atlantic Inspiration

About AdegaMãe

In Torres Vedras, in the west of Portugal, an enterprising family who share a strong passion for the land where they were born, fulfilled the old dream of building a winery that celebrates the region's historical heritage, strongly marked by the culture of vines and wine.

Built by the Alves family, founder of the Riberalves Group, AdegaMãe was born as a tribute by men to the matriarch, Manuela Alves. At the same time the inspiration for a place of birth, of creation, in which the aim is to enhance the best grapes and give birth to better wines.

Located north of Lisbon and a step away from the ocean coast, AdegaMãe has a terroir strongly influenced by the prevailing sea breezes, standing out for its Atlantic-inspired wines, full of character, fresh and mineral, awarded nationally and internationally.

Portugal's trusted brand of baking products

About Branca De Neve

Upon its release in 1954, the Branca De Neve flour had an innovative feature--- it was a "Self-Raising" flour or self-leavening as it already contained embedded baking powder. It was the only one in the market that was especially suitable for the baking cakes. Due to this, the company's success was immediate and resulted in the distribution of thousands of tons of flour in the village of Alcains.

Branca De Neve has evolved over the years, bringing more well sought after products such as cake mixes to bread flour mixes.

Branca De Neve's products were awarded the 2016 Product of the Year seals, where the new range of Toppings and Desserts Mixes for Mousses were featured with truly unique flavors.

Portugality, tradition, quality, trust and the knowledge of generations

About Bom Petisco

Portugal's most iconic canned food. A market leader for over 30 years, it has become an exponent of Portuguese gastronomy and the traditional art of fish conservation. It strikes the perfect balance between taste and tradition, preserved in a modern and appealing can.

On the island of São Miguel, the production of Bom Petisco has a history which is over 50 years old. This is the story written by the hands of our employees, who every day, prepare the fish to make the best snack, or in Portuguese, the best 'petisco', available to all. It is thanks to them that every can is guaranteed of containing Azorean tradition – unbeatable fish, prepared by following the recipe which is passed through generations.

Fishing takes place in collaboration with POPA – the Azores fishery observation programme, a project to monitor and control the fishing industry. The aim is to ensure that no dolphin is harmed by our fishing activities. The protection of dolphins and sustainability of the sea are guaranteed by the "Friend of the Sea" status, which aims to reduce the human impact on the marine ecosystem.

About Tenório

Francisco Rodriguez Tenório, was a pioneer in the usage of tuna portions from the primest cut for canning. A man of vision and a successful industrialist that was responsible for the development of a timeless and superior quality preservation. In the late 19th century, he established his business in Vila Real de António, in the south of Portugal, where the Portuguese canning industry took it's first steps. The secret behind the cleaning and cutting of the fish was then applied at the factory of São Francisco, founded in 1880 to produce it's original preserved products.

In 1960, the brand TENÓRIO set sail for the Azores, where it is still produced to this day at the Cofaco factory, using only the finest tuna fillets. Close to the Azorean shoreline, is where Cofaco's fleet is dedicated to sustainable fishing using the certified fishing method of 'Pole & Line'. Part of Cofaco's production is secured with the fresh Skipjack Tuna caught in this area. According to tradition, the fillets are then placed by hand inside cans or glass jars and preserved in olive oil, water or original sauces made from the finest ingredients.
